Imi Communications is a London-based PR and communications agency dedicated to amplifying the voices of female-founded brands. We proudly represent a carefully curated portfolio of innovative womenswear, jewellery, and lifestyle/homeware labels, each built with purpose, rooted in sustainability, and committed to ethical business practices.

Our work goes beyond traditional PR. Imi Communications is about visibility and genuine connection. We help emerging and established brands grow, by building authentic communities, sharing their stories with purpose. Through strategic press coverage, impactful influencer campaigns, considered gifting, and thoughtfully executed collaborations and events, we connect brands with the audiences who will champion them.

About maemullen summary:

MAEMULLEN IS A CREATIVE STUDIO WHERE SOCIAL, CONTENT AND DESIGN COME TOGETHER. WE CREATE THOUGHTFUL, DISTINCTIVE WORK THAT HELPS BRANDS SHOW UP WITH PERSONALITY AND PURPOSE.

We believe the strongest brands are built through creativity, consistency and genuine connection. From social media and content creation to design, illustration, PR and events, we create work that feels authentic, considered and designed to leave a lasting impression.

Maemullen was founded by two creatives brought together by a shared passion for design, content and creativity.

Laura is an Advertising graduate with a background in luxury PR, social media management and UGC, bringing experience in brand storytelling, content creation and digital marketing. Poppy is a Fine Art graduate from Central Saint Martins whose background in illustration, design and visual arts brings a distinctive creative perspective to every project.

As a female-founded studio, we created Maemullen to combine our different creative disciplines under one roof. What began through our shared love of creating has grown into a studio where social media, design and content work together to help brands connect with their audience in a thoughtful and authentic way.

Today, we partner with businesses to create work that feels considered, creative and true to their identity, combining strategy with originality to build brands people remember.
